PAIN AND SYMPATHY

Rev. CJ McGregor

In these times it is entirely impossible to escape the pain in our world, our community, our congregation and even our own families. One needs to be able to witness and be surrounded by pain, suffering, and grief and respond with sympathy and empathy without making the pain our own. Today we will learn about this spiritual practice and how this practice leaves us whole versus broken.

10 | APRIL

WHO WE ARE

Rev. CJ McGregor

It is a healthy practice to be reminded of who we are as individuals, as a congregation and as a liberal religious movement. We will reflect on this practice and Rev. CJ will reflect on his candidating week at Bell Street.

EARTH DAY 2011: SACRED WATERS

Kate Gillis

Our congregation joins hundreds of Unitarian Universalist congregations in examining issues of water justice and in putting our faith in action.

EASTER

Rev. Ben Hall and Rev. José Ballester

With the return of spring, the earth sheds its sleepy mantle, and new life springs forth. The winter of Bell Street Chapel is also ending and new life will spring forth.

FROM THE BOARD

Wow, what an exciting time for us at Bell Street! There are big things afoot. First of all, and possibly most exciting, after four years without a minister, our dedicated, hardworking Search Committee is recommending a candidate for our ministry! Rev. CJ McGregor will join us for candidating week April 2-10, during which he will meet with individuals, committees and the children and will lead two worship services and an adult religious education class. Come meet him at those times, and at a party on April 2. There will be a congregational meeting on April 10 to vote on whether to call him, and we expect to have another party that afternoon. This is a very exciting development! For more information, including a message from Rev. CJ McGregor himself, turn to Pages 4 and 5.

We're also stepping into for our canvass, the annual pledge drive that funds the good work of our church. Beth Grossi and Sally Gabb have stepped up (these "step" references are intentional. See their column below to learn why.) to serve as canvass chairwomen, and we are fortunate to have people so creative, fun and hardworking leading us in this effort. It's going to be a good time.

And we're getting closer to meeting our goal of installing a chairlift to the sanctuary. Nearly $800 was raised by a concert last month. Turn to Page 3 for info another concert in May by world-renowned Russian-American pianist Sergey Schepkin, which will no doubt raise even more. Much thanks to Music Director Irina Tchantceva for organizing these. Our fund-raising committee will be switching into high gear after canvass to raise the rest, and the House Committee is working on the nuts and bolts.

It's a great time to be a Bell Streeter!

*In faith,
Meredyth Waterman, Past President*

OUR CANVASS

It's that time again, Bell Street family, to step up, step lively. We the members of Bell Street Chapel are on a journey month by month, weeks by week, step by step. We follow our path together to maintain the vision and spirit of our congregation. At the March 27 service, you will notice footprints leading to Eddy Hall. These footprints represent our theme for this year's annual canvass: each of us is asked to "step up" in support of Bell Street Chapel to enrich the life of our congregation.

Bell Street Chapel has amazing assets and big dreams. We are fortunate to have our music director who enriches our services and programs including musical guests. We would love to see our music program expanded. We are in the process of securing a permanent part-time pastor; we dream of full-time pastoral leadership. We share our weekly collection with a variety of social justice groups; we wish to do more. We would love to expand our religious education for both adults and children. We hope to improve our Sunday services through upgrading the sound systems in the sanctuary and Eddy Hall. With congregational support, these are achievable dreams.

DAYDREAM THEATRE PERFORMANCES

Daydream Theatre Company is proud to announce its spring production, "Buster Keaton: Fade to Black" will premiere on March 31 at the Bell Street Chapel's Eddy Hall. Produced by Jim Belanger, written and directed by Lenny Schwartz, "Buster Keaton: Fade to Black" is an original biographical play of the famous film comedian Buster Keaton.

Keaton, usually seen in his signature porkpie hat, is one of the best-known and most respected of the silent film comedians. He was dubbed "The Great Stone Face" for his stoic demeanor and deadpan on-screen persona. Keaton wrote, directed and produced many films in the 1920s and 1930s. His physical humor and daredevil stunts still entertain audiences.

"Buster Keaton: Fade to Black" is an accurate, yet surrealistic, look at the life and career of this famous film comedian. The play details his life from his rise as a filmmaker to his subsequent fall into alcoholism and madness. Schwartz is presenting the story as a dramatic comedy, and will feature many re-enactments of famous moments and imagery from his films, and the physical comedy gags Keaton is known for.

The performance dates for the play are March 31, April 1, 2, 7, 8, 9, 14, 15, and 16. All shows start at 8 p.m. Tickets will be available for purchase soon on www.smarttix.com.

WOMENSPHERE

Womensphere, the Ballou Channing District Women's Group, is excited to present a symposium, "AWAKENING the Dreamer, CHANGING the Dream," facilitated by Sisters of Mercy Mary Pendergast and Nancy Audette. The program will be held on April 30, from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the First Unitarian Church of New Bedford. This day of renewal for women provides an interactive transformational workshop that inspires participants to play a role in creating a new future: an environmentally sustainable, spiritually fulfilling, and socially just human presence on this planet. Through dynamic group interactions, leading-edge information and inspiring multimedia, participants are inspired to reconnect with their deep concern for our world and are empowered to make a difference. The cost is $25 including lunch. Pre-registration necessary. Please contact schmader@cox.net.

You should receive a mailer this month including a canvass brochure and a pledge card. The brochure explains the canvass purpose and process, and provides a chart of suggested levels of giving. Be assured that all pledges are welcome. There are also brochures and pledge cards on the back table in Eddy Hall. Also, remember that the fiscal year begins July 1, 2011, so you don't begin paying on next year's pledge amount until July 1.

We have a busy month during April as we conclude our pastoral search and welcome our pastor candidate. We hope each of you will be able to return your pledge by April 17. We will have our canvass celebration as a May Breakfast following the Sunday Service on May 1, so get ready to welcome spring and our new year at Bell Street Chapel.

We know that our generous congregation will step up to the spirit and support Bell Street Chapel and our dreams for the coming year.

~Sally Gabb and Beth Grossi, canvass chairwomen

SERGEY SCHEPKIN CONCERT

World-renowned Russian-American pianist Sergey Schepkin may be performing at Bell Street Chapel next month! Watch for more information soon.

Our music director Irina Tchantceva is working on arranging the concert, planned on Mother's Day, May 8, at 3 p.m. The ticket price looks like it may be $20, $15 for seniors and students. Proceeds will benefit our handicapped access project.

Expect the performance to be spectacular. Mr. Schepkin, who has a devoted following, performed at Bell Street several years ago, packing the sanctuary and giving an amazing performance.

For more information on Sergey Schepkin, visit www.schepkin.com.

MINISTERIAL SEARCH

MINISTERIAL SEARCH

I just opened the March newsletter and saw the column which I wrote a few weeks ago. It begins, "Not much to report from your committee..." Have things ever changed! Candidating week will run from April 2 through April 10 and the congregation will be able to meet Reverend CJ McGregor. Reverend McGregor is currently serving as a minister at the Brookfield Unitarian Universalist Church, a position he pursued so as to gain further ministerial experience as a student minister. Prior to this, he had served as an intern minister at First Church Unitarian of Littleton, Mass., from September 2006 through June 2008. While he was just ordained over the last weekend of February, he brings a host of life experience in his first career in human services working in the area of developmental and psychiatric disabilities.

Reverend McGregor is also the spiritual director of Aseracare Hospice in Marlborough, Mass., a position which is flexible and part-time and which would easily allow him to grow into the increasing number of hours we hope to offer a settled minister over the next few years.

Reverend McGregor is married to his husband of 7 years (partnered for 20!), Richard, a licensed mental health counselor. They are the fathers of two sons, both adopted when they were 7 years old. Tony is now 21 and Robert is now 19.

The Search Committee had the pleasure of spending the weekend with Reverend McGregor (and some of the weekend with Richard as well) a few weeks ago. Over meals, driving tours of Rhode Island, and interviews, we unanimously became more and more excited over the possibility of Reverend McGregor as the next settled minister of Bell Street.

Some of our impressions: Reverend McGregor is a listener. He is deliberate and thoughtful, yet can be quite funny. We were struck by his honesty, and his ability to self-reflect. He seems to truly know his strengths and accepts his weaknesses with grace and without defense. He repeatedly spoke of his appreciation of how we at Bell Street "should not be doing all you're doing," referring to our ability to overcome our small size when it comes to social action, and other aspects of our community. He understands the importance of lay leadership, music, religious education, preaching, and social action to this community and truly seems to us on the committee as one who would guide us to our highest potential. He also spoke of what would be his commitment to us, stating that Bell Street would NOT be a "stepping stone" for him, but rather a spiritual home where he hopes to settle indefinitely. Even before he read our packet, he spoke of how he "fell in love" with our community. We are the church where he feels he fits best and those of us on the Search Committee agree that he would be a great asset to our community.

Please come to meet Reverend McGregor over candidating week. The week will begin with a potluck dinner at Carol Crowley's home in Providence on Saturday, April 2, followed by a service conducted by Reverend McGregor the next morning. Then, over the course of the week, Reverend McGregor will be holding office hours to meet with him one to one, as well meeting with committee members and conducting an adult religious education program in Eddy Hall on Tuesday, April 5 at 7 p.m. He will conduct a second service on Sunday, April 10, and then we will have a congregational vote following the service on whether he should be called as the next minister of Bell Street Chapel. Please make time to get to know Reverend McGregor and please feel free to contact a member of the Ministerial Search Committee with any questions. Thanks so much for all of your support thus far!

On behalf of the Ministerial Search Committee, Wendy Schwartz

MINISTERIAL SEARCH

FROM OUR MINISTERIAL CANDIDATE

Dear Ones,

You should congratulate your Ministerial Search Committee. They've worked hard and made my husband, Richard, and I feel welcomed and cared for during our weekend visit to Providence in February. You should also be pleased that they've found such a wonderful, charismatic and dynamic candidate! I am not beyond shamelessly promoting myself and hope this gives you a taste of my well-developed sense of humor. I am grateful and indeed honored to be presented as your candidate for minister of your congregation.

Let me tell you a little about myself that will give you a head start in preparing for our time together in April. I apologize if this sounds like a Match.com ad, but a terse article is in order for the newsletter. I am a 41-year-old man who lives in Fitchburg, Mass., with my husband of 20 years, Richard, my oldest son Antonio, who is 21, and my three dogs Maggie, Henry and Thomas. My youngest son Robert, who is 19, lives in Leominster, Mass. I am currently serving the Brookfield, Mass., Unitarian Universalist congregation as their student minister. I served the Littleton, Mass., congregation from 2006 to 2008 as intern minister and the Fitchburg, Mass., Unitarian Universalist congregation as director of religious education for six years. I worked as chaplain for the Worcester State Hospital Forensic Unit in Worcester, Mass., for one year. I have also held leadership positions in nonprofit human service organizations for over 20 years. I am currently the director of spiritual care for Asera-care Hospice in Marlborough, Mass. I graduated with a Master of Divinity degree from Andover Newton Theological School in 2010 and was ordained in February 2011. Richard is licensed therapist specializing in therapy for at-risk youth and youth with Asperberger's Syndrome. He has a practice in Fitchburg, Mass., and West Boylston, Mass. We enjoy hiking, have started mountain climbing, and love spending time in our home in New York in the foothills of the Adirondack Mountains. We've lived in Massachusetts since 1996 and prior to that in New York City for many years. I was born and raised in Potsdam, N.Y., which is an hour south of Montreal. We both prefer urban living and are excited about Providence.

I am thrilled to have found a congregation that has committed itself to service, understands how to build and sustain beloved community, has a rich history in the community and is passionate about growth in terms of growing our congregation and deepening our spiritual selves. We have a lot in common and I look forward to getting to know each of you during my week-long stay in April. We have an exciting journey ahead of us. I welcome the opportunity, as your minister, to stand with you on the mountain summits and encourage you through the valleys on our journey together. Together we have much to offer our congregation, the community, and to Unitarian Universalism. Let our time together be a time of ease, hope and openness. I'm thankful to have found one another.

*Peace and Blessings,
Rev. CJ McGregor*

PEACE AND SOCIAL JUSTICE NEWS

The Peace and Social Justice Committee wishes to thank all who participated in the PSJ-sponsored Worship Service on Feb. 20. The theme of the service was homelessness, a particularly relevant topic this cold and snowy winter. We were reminded that homelessness can happen to anyone who is faced with an unanticipated loss of employment or serious disabling illness. We were also shocked to learn how little our society offers to the children in state care when they come of age; they just suddenly stop receiving any form of support or assistance and often end up on the street. For Unitarian Universalists who pledge to affirm and support the "inherent worth and dignity of every person", the service was a good reminder of our obligations to those who, often by no fault of their own, do not have a place to call home. Consequently, our Share the Plate recipients for the months of February and March were nonprofit organizations that provide services to the homeless. We also collected blankets, hoodies and new underwear and socks for the clients of shelters.

Also, just a "heads up" from the Peace and Social Justice Committee concerning our May Mother's Day project! We will once again creatively fill 30 baskets for women who might not otherwise be acknowledged on Mother's Day. This year's recipients will be clients of Sojourner House, a resource center and safe haven for victims of domestic violence and their children. Sojourner House has served as a leader in Rhode Island in the assistance of such families since 1976. We will collect personal care items like lovely soaps, make up, perfumes and personal hygiene products during the weeks from now until Mother's Day. And we will be looking for help putting the baskets together and decorating them. So stay tuned... Sojourner House will also be the recipient of Share the Plate for the month of May.

~ Carol Crowley
Peace and Social Justice Chairperson

BOOK CLUB

Death and loss, that of loved ones and ultimately that of ourselves, are part of the human experience. As in other painful situations, there is much to be gained from the wisdom and insight of others who have suffered loss and thought deeply about it. All are invited to attend Bell Street Chapel's Book Club. It is NOT necessary to make a commitment to come every time. Participants find that, far from being depressing, reading these wonderful works teaches us a lot about how we want to live – mindfully, joyfully, and involved.

Since we had not yet had our March meeting at the time this newsletter went to press, we have not yet selected the book or the date for the April meeting. Watch for announcements in the Order of Service. For more information, please call or e-mail Carol Crowley at (401) 272-2088 or ccrowley8@cox.net.

WISH LIST

Wanted for our church:

- One legal-sized filing cabinet for sheet music storage.
- Two small cabinets, one for each bathroom, in which we can store a few rolls of extra toilet paper. This will prevent anyone from falling victim the unfortunate no-TP situation!
- Cloth tablecloths for Eddy Hall. We don't know where they've been going, but we're running out. And frankly, the ones we have are in rough shape. Preferably matching ones. Alternatively, if you have time and some sewing skills, we have a large bolt of cloth, and would love for someone to turn it into tablecloths.

If you have one of these things and are willing to give it to Bell Street, please contact Meredyth Waterman at (401) 451-2322 or MeredythW@aol.com

SHARE THE PLATE

The nonprofit organization with which we will share the undesignated cash offering during the month of April is Providence City Arts for Youth, nominated by Bell Street member, Dan Lawlor. This organization provides free professional arts education to Providence children ages 8 to 14. Based in the South Side of Providence, this organization serves many inner-city children who would otherwise not have opportunities for creative expression in the visual arts, music and dance.

MOVIE NIGHT

FRIDAY, APRIL 8, 6:30 P.M. CAROL CROWLEY'S HOUSE

For the past several years Bell Street Chapel has sponsored a monthly movie night, at which we view and discuss films with gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender or gender identity themes. In this way we live out our commitment as a Unitarian Universalist Association Welcoming Congregation; we also have a good time together and share a delicious potluck dinner. Over the past few years we have seen some spectacular films – dramas, comedies, musicals, and documentaries – all mainstream films, many of which have won awards. We show these films on a large screen donated by the Rhode Island International Film Festival, for which Bell Street Chapel is a venue.

This season we are focusing on foreign films. The movie for April is based on the autobiography of Cuban poet and novelist, Reinaldo Arenas. His life is presented in an inextricable mix of his memories, dreams, nightmares and fiction. As a gay man, he is harassed and imprisoned by the Cuban government and eventually escapes to New York City. In Manhattan he gets caught in another trap, for which there is only one tragic escape. The movie won several awards in 2000, including several for the star, Javier Bardem.

Please note that, because of a conflict with the Daydream Theatre performance in Eddy Hall, this movie night will be at the home of Carol Crowley (contact Carol at ccrowley8@cox.net or (401) 272-2088 for directions). So bring some food or non-alcoholic beverage to share and join us at Movie Night!
